Welcome to San Francisco

There are few places in the world that can combine a bustling metropolis – complete with unique neighborhoods, state of the art museums, and a history dating back to the Gold Rush – with an awe-inspiring natural landscape. The San Francisco Bay Area does exactly that: nestled in beautiful Northern California with picturesque views of the ocean, mysterious rolling fog, and a culturally diverse population. Known for its colorful characters, seaside charm, and fine dining and shopping, San Francisco has all the ingredients for a fun and culturally rich vacation.

The pages that follow are a tool for you to discover and explore San Francisco – including a special “how to” for using our guide and card. We hope the Go San Francisco Card enhances your visit to “The City by the Bay” – San Francisco. Enjoy your stay.

Getting Around San Francisco

San Francisco is an easy city to navigate. Not only is it walking friendly (don’t let the stories of hills fool you), public transportation options are numerous, including the world-famous Cable Cars, Muni, and BART. You’ll be delighted with how simple it is to explore.

What system should I use for travel inside the city?
Muni service includes local buses, F-line, Vintage Trolley Cars, Historic Cable Cars, and lightrail. These vehicles have various routes that travel throughout the city including: to/from Fisherman’s Wharf, Union Square, Golden Gate Park, Chinatown, SOMA district, and more.

How much does Muni cost?
Currently $2.25* per adult ride (senior, youth, disabled is $.75*) Asking for a transfer (not valid on Cable Cars) allows you to ride another route within the given time frame of your transfer. Historic Cable Car tickets are $6.00* per ride.
*Fares are accurate at time of printing and are subject to change.

What is Muni’s F-Line and where will it take me?
The historic trolley cars of the F-line are vintage electric rail cars which serve the City’s main artery, Market Street, and its grand waterfront boulevard, the Embarcadero. They are a brilliant example of San Francisco’s unique passion for history. These amazing trolleys will take you to popular tourist attractions like Fisherman’s Wharf, the Embarcadero, the Ferry Building, and Market Street which then is a short 2-3 block walk from Union Square and SOMA.

What is a Historic Cable Car?
Much like the F-line street cars, Historic Cable Cars are a big part of San Francisco’s transportation history and are the only cable cars still being used today. There are 3 cable car lines still operational:
• Powell-Mason Line
• Powell-Hyde Line
• California Street Line

How do I get to Golden Gate Park and Lincoln Park?
Golden Gate Park is accessible by bus or by Streetcar:
From Market Street, take Muni buses #5, #21, or the Muni-Metro N-Judah Streetcar. Lincoln Park is accessible by bus #38. For more information, visit Muni’s website at www.sfmta.com or call the San Francisco Municipal Railway (415) 673-MUNI (6864). Trip planning assistance is available through the website.

I want to travel outside the city. Which line do I take and where does it go?
Bay Area Rapid Transit or BART is a network similar to New York’s subway. BART links the downtown area with the peninsula to the south, including SFO International Airport and with the East Bay including, Berkeley and Oakland. Fares vary, so visit www.bart.gov or call (415) 989-2298 for the most current information.
